Latzer Homestead

The home on these grounds was built by Louis Latzer for his family in 1901. Latzer is credited with perfecting the condensing of milk. He took over the Helvetia Milk Condensing Company in 1887. The company was later named

PET MILK with 23 plants across the United States. Louis Latzer became known as "the Father of Pet Milk."

His family donated the home and 80 acre farm to the Highland Historical Society in 1976. Tours of the home during Homestead Harvest Days are $2.00 per person.

30 foot Diorama of Pet Milk

Admission $1.00

This 30 foot long miniature display shows the Pet Milk process.
